

The Ultimate in Human Hair Extensions

style requires a foundation

SALONLABS

Originally founded in New York by an alliance of oncologists as a non-profit supplier of high quality hair prosthetics to radiation and chemotherapy patients, SalonLabs has evolved into a commercial venture providing the ultimate in human hair extensions to the beauty industry. SalonLabs supplies only retail clients interested in bulk orders – we do not serve end consumers directly.

SUPERIOR QUALITY

SalonLabs serves clients seeking the highest quality human hair in the world. We believe virgin Indian hair (aka Remy) cannot be matched in luster, body, versatility, and durability. What our competitors market as “premium” is identical to our source hair – and the only product developed at our facilities. SalonLabs products are guaranteed to the highest standards of customer satisfaction.

SUPERIOR PROCESSING

Importantly - contrary to popular belief - damage from chemicals, coloring, and heat drying is essentially irreparable. Hair genetics and hair care define the inherent quality of human hair. Microscopically, the hair follicles sourced by SalonLabs demonstrate relatively undamaged cuticles (coating) resulting from a lifetime of care - free of over-washing, coloring, heat drying, and chemical processing. SalonLabs applies a silicon wash coat to lock these undamaged cuticles in a protective environment to deliver our clients the highest quality hair in the world.

SUPERIOR PRICE by SOURCING DIRECT

SalonLabs is distinguished from the other thirty Indian manufacturers by both our company-owned manufacturing facility in India and our own distribution office in the United States (Ann Arbor, Michigan). This allows us to supply U.S. retailers directly, at wholesale rates, and with hair which is definitively from India.

As a physician familiar with the management of complex medical conditions, I learned the importance of simplicity and control at every level. At SalonLabs, we integrated every step of the hair development cycle, from source acquisition to processing and packaging, under one umbrella. By eliminating the middleman, we have been able to provide our retail clients direct access to the ultimate in human hair at the “raw” price – undercutting the entire market. Style requires a foundation. SalonLabs delivers it to you one satisfied customer at a time. I take pride knowing we remain the global partner you trust (and a privileged supplier of cancer centers and hospitals at near cost).
